Seven Persons Drown In Minn. Boat Accident

2 Fathers Ignore Warning, Die With Their 5 Children

BROWN'S VALLEY, Minn., June 4-UP-Seven persons, including five children, were feared drowned in Lake Traverse when a squall hit their overloaded boat, authorities said Saturday. Some 30 boats dragged the lake and two airplanes scanned the lake for bodies. Conservation officials said it was the worst Minnesota boating mishap since 1890, when 98 persons drowned in the capsizing of a Mississippi River excursion boat.

The body of one of the children. wearing a life preserver, was washed up on the shore of an island early Saturday. He was identified as Edward Hout, 8. The overturned boat was found on another island nearby.

Lake Traverse is on the Minnesota-South Dakota border and authorities from both states joined in the search.

Sheriff George Schmitz said the occupants of the boat were Leo Doty and his two sons, David, 3. and Lewis, 10; Leslie Hout, and his three children, Beverly, 11, Karen, 14, and Edward, 8, all of Hawarden. lowa.

Doty's jacket was found floating near the boat. Hout's wife and two other children stayed behind in the cabin. The two families arrived at Erickson's Resort early Friday afternoon for a week of fishing. Schmitz said Mrs. Lucille Erickson, owner of the resort, warned the men the overcrowded boat was dangerous. But the men slipped

Russian Strategy Provides Evidence Military Stalemate Has Been Reached

54-FOOT WINGSPREAD—Glider featuring forward slant-

EDITOR' NOTE: United Press Correspondent Henry Shaniro is a recognized authority on Russia and United States-Russian relations. He served as a news correspondent in Moscow for more than 20 years and at aresent is on leave from his job as United Press manager in Moscow. In the following dispatch be analyzes the Kremlin's new appearance of "sweet reasonableness."

By HENRY SHAPIRO

United Press Staff Correspondent. Russia's new global strategy provides evidence that the Kremlin believes a military stalemate has been reached in the East-West "cold war" and that a period of stabilization has set in in Europe, if not in Asia.

Soviet Communist Party Leader Nikita Khrushehev's and Premier Nikolai Bulganin's dramatic pilgrimage to Belgrade fits into the new pattern.

Further to break the log jam in international affairs, the Russians may be expected to come forward at the forthcoming Big Four conference "at the summit" with sweeping proposals to end the Cold War. These proposals will have a strong appeal in West Germany, France, in neutral and in uncommitted countries of the world.

The Soviet Union's grandiose peace offensive will assume unprecedented proportions.

One of the most significant items in the Soviet-Yugoslav agreement of particular interest to China and Moscow's satellites is the recognition that "different forms of Socialist development are solely the concern of individual countries." Oil Situation In Southwest Said 'Not Encouraging DALLAS, June 4 A-A petroleum economist believes the immediate market outlook for Southwest oil is not particularly encouraging. Jack D. Colclough of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas reported this week that if current trends continue the Southwest's share in most major markets now served is likely to be reduced.

Colclough said long-range prospects, however, are favorable. He believes time will erase any surplus in the world's producing capacity and that a rapid increase in demand is expected to continue the next few decades.

Writing for the bank's Monthly Business Review, Colclough said: "The relative increase in demand in other parts of the world has been considerably larger than in the United States. A continuing expansion in demand in these foreign countries is likely to absorb the bulk of foreign production which will become available."

Colclough earlier had said the faster rate of growth in imports of foreign oil undoubtedly presents a threat to the expansion of Southwest oil in its No. 1 market area, in a consideration with the west oil in its No. 1 market area, in a consideration was something to the west oil in its No. 1 market area, in a consideration was oil in its No. 1 market area, in a consideration was oil in its No. 1 market area, in a consideration was oil in its No. 1 market area, in a consideration was oil in its No. 1 market area, in a consideration was oil in its No. 1 market area, in a consideration was oil in its No. 1 market area, in a consideration was oil in its No. 1 market area, in a consideration was oil in its No. 1 market area, in a consideration was oil in its No. 1 market area, in a consideration was oil in its No. 1 market area, in a consideration was oil in its No. 1 market area, in a consideration was oil in a consideration was only in a consideration was of the consideration was of the consideration was obtained as a consideration was of the consideration was obtained as a considerati the Atlantic Seaboard states.

Let's "talk turkey" about

Mythology is certainly playing its part in the unscrupulous promotion of many so-called "uranium mines." Some successful offerings have recently been made which had little more uranium potential than being in the same state as a known producer!

Truthfully, we're not interested in mythology. We're much more intrigued by this opportunity to "talk turkey" about uranium mining as practiced by CONSOLIDATED URANIUM MINES, INC. This Company is still our choice and the choice of a selected group of investors who can look a good risk in the face and say, "This speculation has growth-profit possibilities." And the reason they think so is well substantiated by the fact that Consolidated has . . increased its ore production more than eight times in four years of operation. . . . mined 148,943 dry tons of uranium ore in its buef but active corporate life.

. . . received $4,454,659 for its uranium produc-. mined 17,169 dry tons of uranium ore in just the first three months of the present fiscal year commencing August 1, 1954.

. . . continued developmental work on certain tungsten properties which are now expected to commence commercial production early in 1955! A few other facts may demonstrate why we and approximately 25,000 other stockholders feel that

Consolidated Common Stock will offer the robust growth which makes the employment of speculative venture capital worthwhile. Consolidated has mined practically all of its uranium tonnage from a mere 100 of the more than $0,000 acres owned or under lease! Although nohody can predict that the tonnage figures shown above can be multiplied by 800, e.c.n. a greatly decreased extraction rate still leaves a basis for fascinating speculation So don't delay another day-get the facts, then make your decision. Chances are your judgment will be the same as ours: A stock purchase of Consolidated Uranium Mines should be one of today's best opportunities to watch a small amount of money really grow! Ask for a copy of this company's latest Financial Report showing its balance sheet and comparative statements of income and

- Concrete streets, curbs, and gutters
- Concrete sidewalks throughout subdivision
- Utilities at rear of lot
 Lighted streets
- Storm sewers, well graded lots, drainage

All utilities, plus extra features above, are in and have been paid for by builder.

ARCHITECT DESIGNED - FACTORY ASSEMBLED

Each of the attractive homes in Forsythe Park has been carefully designed by a staff of housing experts to provide maximum livability at reasonable prices. Materials used are the finest available. Temporary Parking Ban At Peak Hours Proposed For Louisville Ave.

A temporary parking ban on Louisville Avenue during peak traffic periods with proper "on-the-spot" enforcement through the local traffic department was recommended yesterday by the traffic-parking committee of the Monroe-West Monroe Chamber of Commerce, Chairman Si Hollan said.

The C. of C. committee meeting in a caucas with a delegation representing the Louisville Avenue businessmen voted unanimously to present an official resolution to the City Council requesting that immediate steps be taken to preserve a smooth flow of traffic on the busy thoroughfare.

"Within the next ten days," Hollan said, "the DeSiard Street bridge will be closed for extensive repairs which will place an unprecedented volume of traffic on Louisville and we feel that it is entirely necessary to ban parking during peak hours along the entire thoroughfare."

The recommendation as offered by the unanimous approval of the raffic - parking committee and Louisville Avenue businessmen representatives is as follows:

"We recommend to the City Council that during the repairs on the DeSiard street bridge which will force it to be closed, that a special traffic officer be placed on the Louisville Avenue thoroughfare K. C. Grand Knight to enforce traffic ordinances and that a no-parking ban be placed along the entire avenue on both sides of the street during the peak traffic periods from 7:30 a.m. to Knights of Columbus Council 1337 9:30 a.m., 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. of Monroe, ren's were 90.4 on the index. New Tarzan Film Coming To Jim Theatre Friday

Two big problems confronted the owner of Zippy and Lucky, the edurated chimps who appear in "Tarzan's Hidden Jungle," the Sol Lesser production for RKO which opens Friday at the Jim Theater. First was the fact that neither of the chimps had ever been in a case, and during key scenes in the movie both were required to go in and out of cages. Second was the embarrassing - to the chimps, at least - fact that neither had ever appeared in public without clothes

The first problem was the toughest, but was finally solved by petting the animals and slowly convincing them the cages weren't harmful nor permanent.

But when the two chimps found themselves without clothes they acted like small children. They climbed trees had to be coaxed and seemed to forget most of the obedience they'd been taught so carefully

A few days mudity helped solve the second problem but after each day's work both chimps seemed

Father Hennepin Discovers Niagara Falls

Father Louis Hennopin, a Belgian missionary, came to the New World in 1675 with Robert La Salle, a French explorer. He learned the language of the American Indians and presented to them. But he also answered the call to adventure, and with La Salle, he explored the Great Lakes region.

He was probably the first white man to see the Niagara Falls. In

RAISED BOSOM, BRIEF SLEEVE-COUTURE LOOK FOR SUMMER

PROMINENT DESIGNER—"The HIT OF MY COLLECTION—it's the Empire-Princess line." American designer Isabel Dobson declares "Simple as can be - but oh, that wide-away neckline above the petticoat skirt does marvelous things for any woman's femininity - and figure!" This young designer with a sparkling approach to fashion thinks a brief sleeve is more flattering than the bare_arm look. We're sure most of you agree with her. We certainly do! Miss Dobson's Original for Cabana is a print pique in turquoise on white. "I'd like to see it," she says, "in icy white or dramatic black - or any one of the sparking sea and sun colors." Home dressmakers might also make their version in embroidered linen, or one of the new polished cottons, is the advice of this leading designer to you.
